

From Gap Bayard to Claret

Randonneuse sur son cheval (© Parc national des Ecrins - Carlos Ayesta)

A first stage taking you to the heights of the Col de Gleize and offering you to a unique perspective over the Gap basin, then on to the state-owned forest of Bois Vert and the Grand Bois de Poligny.

As you wind uphill, beautiful views of the Gap basin and the surrounding peaks open up. Then, you enter the forest in which there are occasional gaps offering a glimpse of the Champsaur area criss-crossed by trees and hedgerows or over the Vieux Chaillol mountain. Further on, at Notre-Dame de Bois Vert or the Chapel of St Etienne, a more cultural break awaits although the panoramic view is no less remarkable.

Advices

Two cattle grids (which can be avoided) after Notre-Dame de Bois Vert.
At La Cuque, an ONF sign provides information on the geography, hydrology, reliefs, climate and vegetation.

At Les Farelles, the Elevage Régina stud farm breeds endurance pure-bred Arabian horses.

At the Chapel of St-Etienne, at the foot of the Bec de l'Aigle, the Tête de la Madeleine and the Crête de Liéraver form natural borders with Le Dévoluy. Tables, benches, monuments and information panels encourage you to take a break. The horses will graze on the grass and trees, and riders will note the contrast between the limestone rock of the Faraut mountain and the crystalline rock of the mountain in front of them: the Banc du Peyron. The fountain will refresh horses and riders alike.

ONF (A)

The work of the Office National des Forêts (National Forestry Office) is not limited to the forests. After buying a large amount of land following the rural exodus (public land), the state delegated to the Water and Forestry agency the difficult task of preserving the natural heritage of a large number of areas (restoration of land and building, maintenance of paths, etc.)

Notre Dame de Bois Vert (B)

The Notre Dame de Bois Vert chapel is one of the rare isolated sanctuaries in Champsaur. A place of pilgrimage for inhabitants of the region, its origin is thought to date from the 7th century. Destroyed in 1575 by Lesdiguières' troops, it was rebuilt in the 17th century and was restored first in 1840 and again in 1925 by Antoine Chaix, a native of the Champsaur who had made his fortune in the US.
